

WANT TO INSURE THE COURTHOUSE

Insurance Men Will be Given a Hearing at a Special Meeting Friday Evening—System of Street Lighting Not to be Changed Now.

At the weekly session of the executive committee of the court of common council Monday evening, a session of an hour and three-quarters was held, at which several reports were made and action taken on a number of matters.

There was presented for the consideration of the committee the request of local insurance agents, asking for a hearing on the matter of insuring the city hall, or courthouse, in this city. They desire to be heard in the matter of the placing of the insurance, with a view of its being to local agents. It was decided to give them an opportunity to be heard by holding a special meeting of the committee Friday evening at 8 o'clock. It was stated during the evening that recently a proposition had been received from the representative of a mutual fire insurance company, who desired to insure the building for three years and at the end of that time pay back 50 per cent. of the premium. The idea of mutual insurance did not appear to the committee for municipal buildings.

Concerning the matter of perfecting a new system for the street lights from Preston bridge to the city hall, the arrangement of which has been under way for some time with a view to having the street lighted with flaming arcs, it was reported that the fact that constant improvements are being made on those lights, it was deemed advisable to delay this plan for a time, as it was considered more could be secured for the money later. The placing of an arc light in Water street was recommended.

The committee on the widening of Little Water street is still at work, but has not its report ready, so that a city meeting can be called. This matter was continued for another week.

The building of the extension of the trolley road in Shattuck street from Laurel Hill bridge to Market street is not to be done until spring. Owing to the fact that the ground is frozen and will continue to be in all probability, the company doesn't wish to attempt to lay the track this winter, but will begin as early as possible in the spring, at which time it can be done much cheaper than now.

Some improvements in the police department such as a patrol wagon and an improved signal service by which all the men on the outlying beats could be reached as desired, were discussed informally. Both were considered necessary, but it was believed the expense would be too great at this time. It was pointed out that the men on the outside beats cannot be reached from headquarters now except by sending a policeman. With the proper signal service there would be hourly reports over the signal and a rounder of drunken men and women through the streets has always been cause for arguments favorable to a patrol wagon.

SEEING WHAT THE RAILROADS WILL DO.

Special Freight Rates Desired in Connection With Harbor Improvements.

A conference was on Monday afternoon between Mayor B. F. Mahan of New London, W. H. Cadwell of New Britain and F. Valentine Chappell of New London, the special committee delegates by the New London harbor development committee to confer with the New Haven railroad with regard to freight rates.

President Charles S. Meilen of the New Haven road has authorized Vice President Campbell to act for that road and by his invitation Messrs. Mahan, Cadwell and Chappell met him in New Haven at 2 o'clock.

The committee is to ascertain what special rates the roads will offer in connection with the building by the state of docks and storehouses at New London as authorized by the bill appropriating a million dollars for that purpose.

The committee has already secured much encouragement from the officials of the Grand Trunk system. Owing to the lateness of the season and the impossibility of actually beginning building operations this winter, the special commission is not making any special effort to hurry the railroad, preferring to allow them ample time in which to secure the data necessary.

Past Potentate Dr. Joseph E. Root is the "doctor" to whom the Imperial potentate refers. Dr. Root was delegated by the reception committee to go to New York and escort Noble Treat to Hartford.

Imperial Assistant Rabbis Dr. Frederick R. Smith of Rochester, N. Y., and the officers of Melba temple of Springfield, Palestine temple of Providence and Pyramus temple of Bridgeport will arrive early in the afternoon and the visitors will be taken for an automobile ride about the city.

Dedicated by the composer to our president.

March—Imperial Sir...Blodgett

Ceremonial Session.
The ceremonial session will begin at 7.30. A class of about thirty candidates will be conducted across the not sand.

Commissary Edward W. Belden has informed illustrious Potentate George W. Klett that he "has got through the custom house many strange things that will compose the banquet to be enjoyed after the work. He says further: "Nobles will indulge in Samian peacocks, Phrygian fowls, Moian cranes, Etolian kids, Chalcidonian porpoises, Tarentine oysters, Chian mussels, n dates, Spanish acorns, eels, Taraschian plies from Pashua, sea fish from Rhodes—luxuries made especially costly by the difficulties of transportation. Thousands of peacocks and nightingales have been killed for their brains alone. It is recorded that Lucullus, a refined epicure, dedicated his saloons to certain gods, and when giving a dinner to Pompey and Caesar ordered an extemporaneous supper in the 'Room of Apollo,' explaining when his guests were astonished at its magnificence, that he always spent 1,500 pounds sterling upon every banquet in that apartment. It is recorded by Apollonius that when he had expended all but 80,000 pounds sterling he committed suicide to escape beggary."

Each visiting noble will receive a souvenir that has been "reserved" for the occasion.

THANKSGIVING YOUR TURKEY FROM

Connecticut, Vermont, Philadelphia or the West
1st choice—CONNECTICUT
2nd choice—PHILADELPHIA
3rd choice—VERMONT
4th choice—WEST or SOUTH

Connecticut Turkeys
We have had our local farmers feed and fatten for Thanksgiving as many as possible, and have been assured of as fine a lot of Connecticut birds as ever were presented at this season of the year. The summer was dry and food plenty. Chestnuts and acorns in abundance, which make the sweet meat for the turkey. Therefore Plump, Delicious Birds.

Philadelphia Turkeys
The condition of food and raising is not unlike our home grown birds. Plenty of food, checker berries, acorns and wheat berries, and the Pennsylvania Dutch farmer make their lives one continual toil, producing the finest Chickens, Ducks, Squabs and Turkeys. Every person that ever purchased a Philadelphia Turkey of us have always said after eating, "just as good as a Native." They cost less and give results. If you do not want a native, buy a Philadelphia.

Vermont Turkeys
The conditions of raising are good, but the supply is inadequate to the demand. One would think to see them advertised that they reigned in abundance. Too often it happens that Western Turkeys are sold as Vermonts.

Western Turkeys
This important scavenger of the wild west prairies feeds on a carcass of some past animal, dry herbs or bitter berries, sometimes get to the rice fields, and plump up, making dry, hard meat full of sinew and muscle, slaughtered and sold under the same class as the well fed birds of the same feather.

Why Spoil Your Thanksgiving Dinner
by taking a chance, giving up your good money at a few cents per pound less, WHY NOT EAT ROAST YOUNG CONNECTICUT PORK that will be good. The cost will be less than half.

CHICKENS—well fed, plump—Young Chickens to roast, broil, boil or fry.
Eat good food Thanksgiving Day. THINK IT OVER. What does the carver say if the bird is poor? What does your company think?

Good Goods, and They Are Good Goods, Too.
